

Shelby County Schools and Germanshire Elementary School are committed to providing support to students and families while our schools are closed. It's very important that students continue to participate in activities so they don't fall behind.

I have put together a variety of speech and or language therapy resources that can be easily accessed from home for parents/caregivers to utilize during this time at home. Videos with lessons, activities and resources aligned to the objectives students would normally be working on. All of these resources are grade inclusive and there are also Pre-K activities included. If you have any questions please contact me via email at KEYSRL@scsk12.org. Please be safe and stay well. Thank you for allowing me to work with your children.

Sincerely,
Rachel Keys, Ed.S.,CCC-SLP

6 Favorite Online Speech Therapy Websites:

StoryPlace.org: StoryPlace.org is a website that has a number of online stories and interactive activities for preschoolers and elementary-aged students. Each theme includes an online story, online activity, printable “take-home” activities and suggestions for parents. A booklist that corresponds to each theme is also offered.

FunwithSpot.com is a cute website for preschoolers and young children. Children familiar with the Spot book series will love the fun language-based games. There are also parent and teacher resources.

FunBrain.com; This website offers a number of free online games for kids. Games touch upon a variety of topics, including vocabulary, grammar, reading, math and some that are just for fun! Check out Plural Girls, Grammar Gorillas or click on the reading tab for some great language activities.

Scholastic.com: Scholastic.com's Family Playground is a great website for preschool and school-age children and their parents. This website includes a variety of games and activities for children related to popular characters and children's books such as Clifford, Magic School Bus, Walter Wick, and I Spy.

Articulation Games (by Tracy Gefroh Boyd): This is a great site where children plan a variety of games to practice r's, s's, l's, sh's and ch's.

The Tongue Twister Database: A fun collection of tongue twisters to practice speech sounds and giggle at the same time

Other resources can be found in the Student Resources section of the website, or follow this link: <https://schools.scsk12.org/Page/8296>