

Brehanna Daniels

Brehanna made history by becoming the first African American female tire changer to pit a race in a NASCAR series on June 2, 2017. On July 7th, 2018 she became the first African American female tire changer to ever change tires at the highest level in NASCAR, known as the Monster Energy Cup Series.

Not only was Brehanna the first African American woman to work a pit crew in NASCAR'S top series, but she was also part of the first female duo in the modern era to work in a pit crew together at a Cup race.

You too have the potential to be the next great NASCAR pit crew member. If Brehanna Daniels can do it, so can you.
