

HOO LOVES READING?

Opportunities with Literacy (OWL) Fest is coming soon!

This September, Governor's Early Literacy Foundation, in partnership with the Tennessee Department of Education, is bringing OWL Fest to our school!

OWL Fest is a one-day, special bookstore-style event where students can shop for books at no cost to families or the school. Every Pre-K–5th grade student will have the opportunity to choose six books (for free!) to take home, helping them build their own home library and grow a lifelong love of reading.

What your student will bring home:

A green tote bag to hold your student's new books.

Six books selected by your child to read and enjoy!

(Books shown are just an example of a few of the many titles that will be available).

Reading tips from Booker's Treehouse:

- Set up a space for a home library.
- Encourage your reader to act, draw, and/or write to aid them in retelling a story.
- Talk about the meanings of new words.
- Let your child choose what you will read together.
- Practice writing with your child in everyday tasks
 - lists, cards, or even a fun story!

For more resources, reading tips, and activities,
scan the QR code to visit Booker's Treehouse!